

the tongued and grooved sheathing boards could be set up on edge and nailed to the wall of the stair enclosure and the studs set up against them, and, in some way, nailed fast to them.